

Anishinaabe Medicine Wheel

Beginnings starts in the east (yellow)

“East is the direction of the physical body and newness including children and new borns. It is the time of change for all is a new beginning.”

SOUTH - Fire - Passion

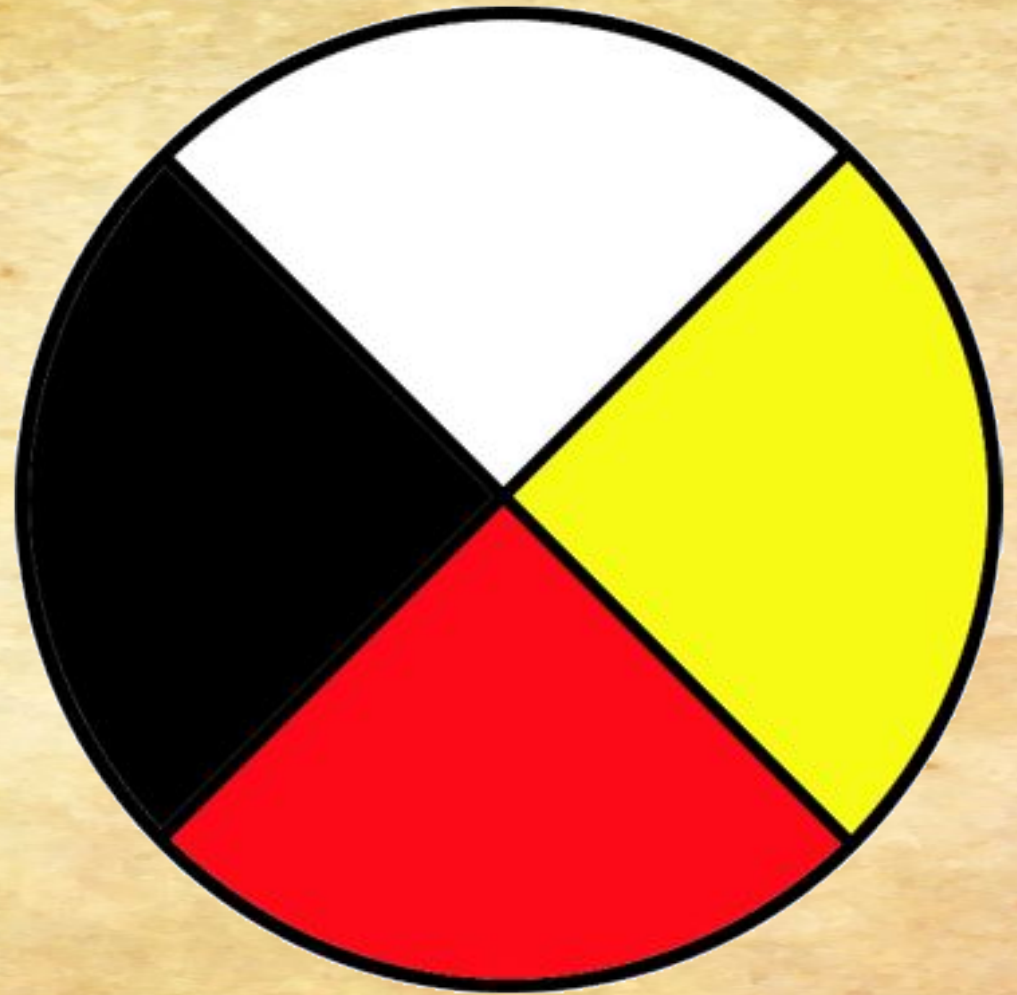

“Maturing and growing into an adult to be that who was are. It is the time to accept the change and learn, to understand.”

WEST Water - Emotions

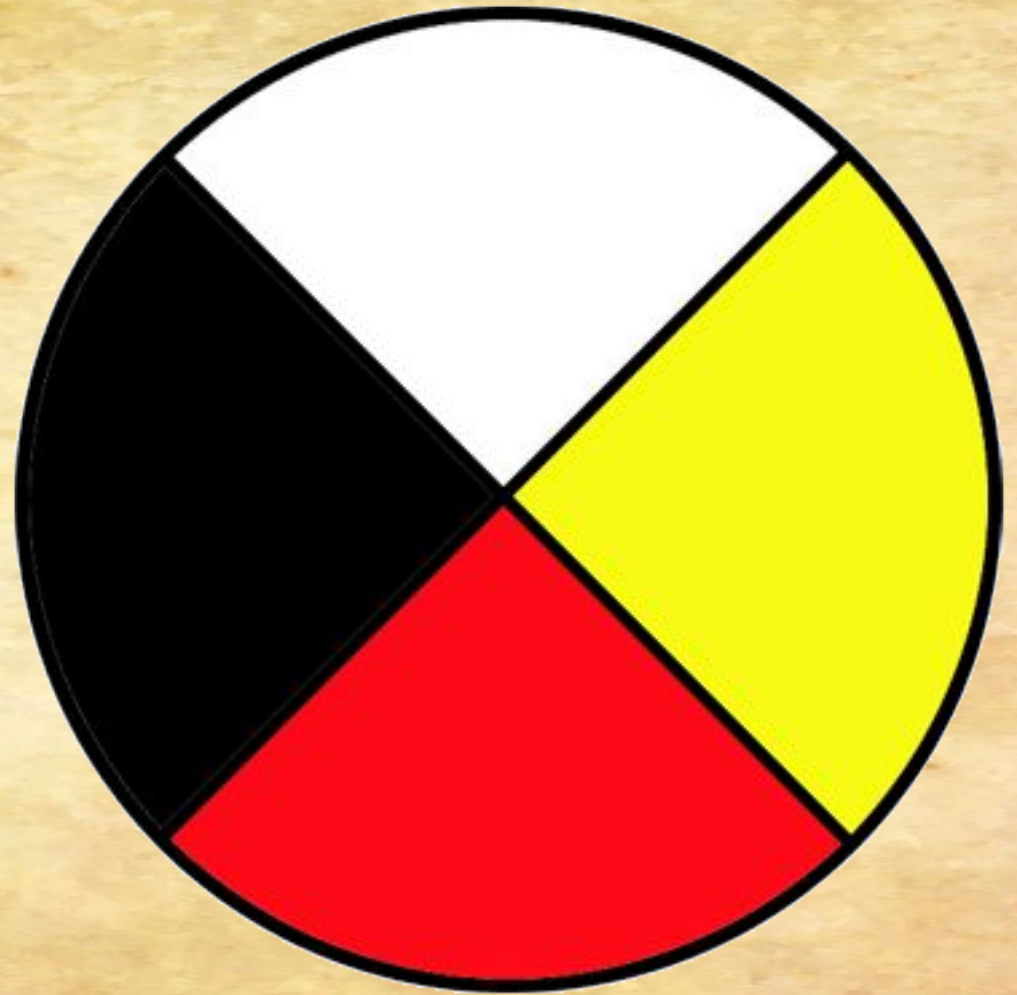

“We gather ourselves and family, working together to prepare for what is to come. As the place of emotions it is the place of family and love - of responsibility from our hearts because of the love.

It is hard work and team efforts. ”

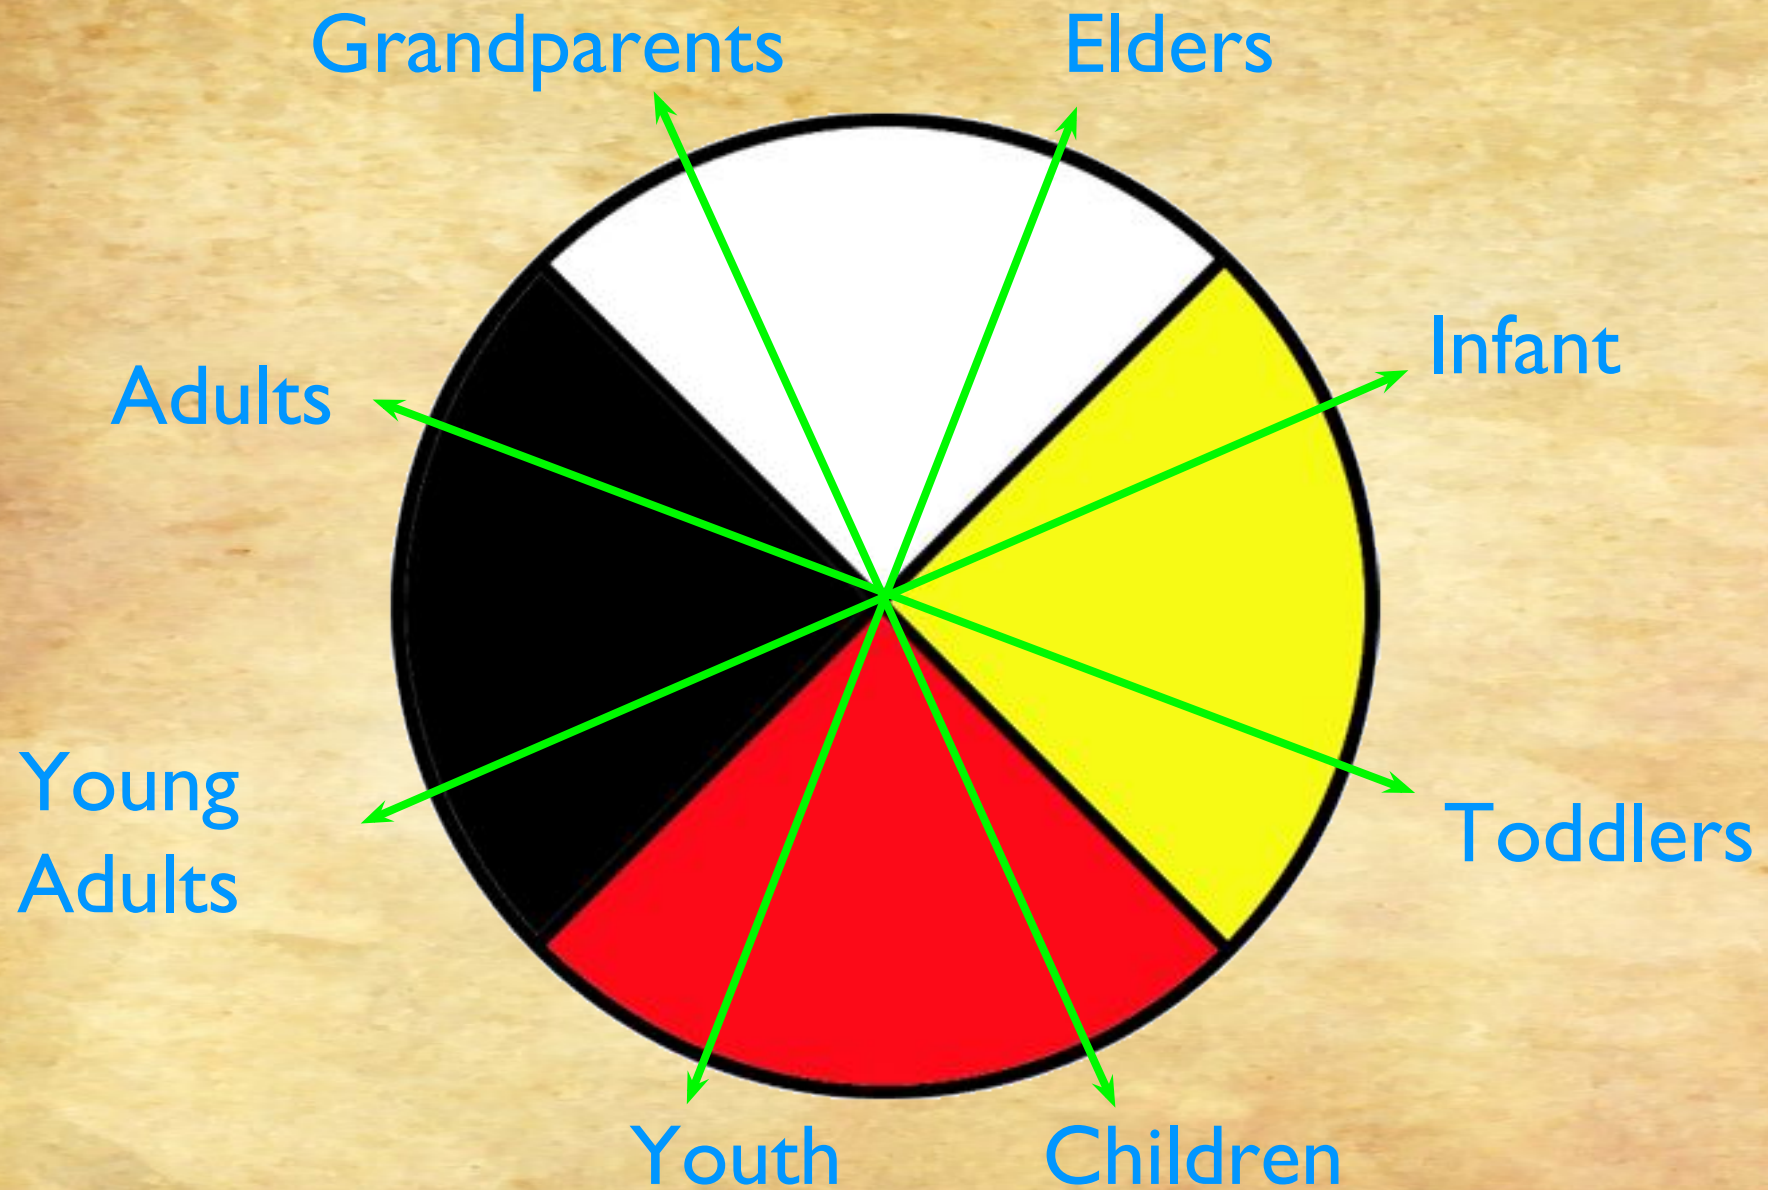

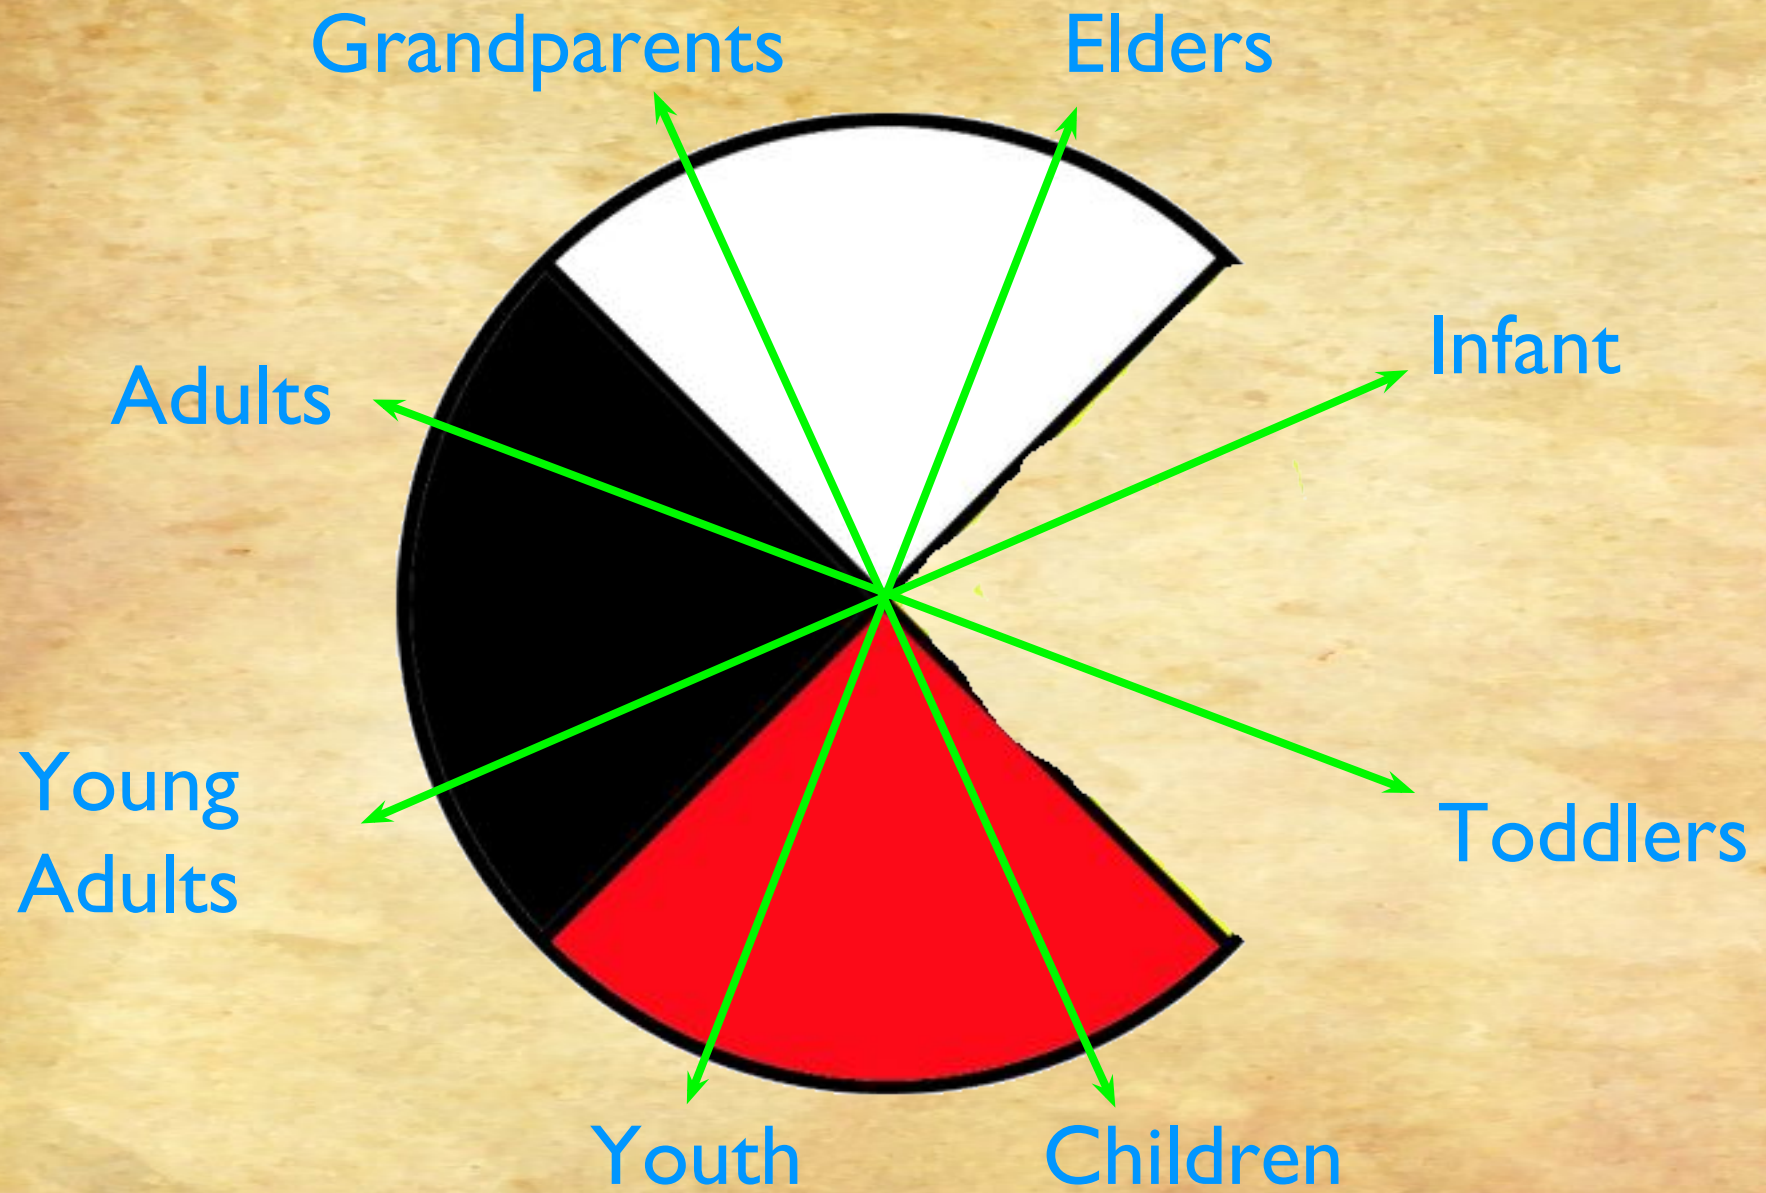

NORTH (white) Earth - Wisdom

"As we get older our hair turns white, as we come to our time of winter. White (and purple) also symbolize spirituality. With experience and age we gain wisdom."

Anishinaabe Medicine Wheel

LOOKING UNTO JESUS

50,000 Children Have Disappeared

Grandparents

Elders

Adults

Young Adults

Who is left to: raise the kids,
pass on the culture, the language,
the values?

